

Reaching

I close my eyes, and often wonder what winds the world weilds to carry my dreams away from me. often lofty o'er my head beyond the reach of wanting hands, with heart in tow behind a wailing wall
of discontent, sorrow, watered with the tears
of joy, hope, and pain.